

Fall 2020 Planning Scenarios

	Scenario A	Scenario B	Scenario C
Movement Restrictions	No restrictions on movement or size of gatherings	Restrictions on movement and size of gatherings, but no stay at home order in place	Significant restrictions on movement and gatherings, with stay at home order in place for part or all of the semester
Limitations on service delivery	None: full range of academic and support services available on campus	Limited restrictions on academic and support services, with mix of on-campus and remote delivery	Strict limitations on academic and support service delivery; remote delivery only
Limitations on instructional delivery	None: full range of instructional delivery modes possible	Limited restrictions on instructional delivery modes	Strict limitations on instructional delivery modes
Dominant modes of instructional delivery	Online course delivery is dominant, coupled with substantial on-campus instruction	Online and remote course delivery is predominant, coupled with modest to moderate on-campus instruction (i.e., those courses that are best delivered in-person, and those courses with instructional components that cannot be delivered and learned remotely)	Online and remote course delivery is predominant, coupled with minimal on-campus instruction (limited to only those courses/programs exempt by executive order)
Scheduling and facility implications	Broad implications for class scheduling, to ensure proper distancing and health/safety protocols; the more in-person instruction offered, the greater the facilities implications.	Reduced implications for overall facility usage, but significant facility implications to ensure proper distancing and health/safety protocols in those courses/programs providing on-campus instruction	Courses with instructional components that cannot be delivered any way other than in-person will need to be completed when movement restrictions are lifted (possibly during spring semester), or not offered at all
Limitations on Residential Life	None: students return to dorms and campus-based residences without restriction	Students return to dorms and campus-based residences with limited restrictions on public gathering	Students do not return to dorms and campus-based residences, or minimal numbers return and face significant restrictions on public gathering
Limitations on Athletics	None: athletic seasons proceed much as usual, in alignment with conference and NCAA/NCJAA regulations and guidance	Athletic seasons proceed, but with limited restrictions on public gathering	Athletic seasons are suspended
